Austin High School

Austin, Minnesota

'Twas A Big Year

Our school and its crowds of lively, jovial students, together with our community and its many likable and friendly people, go hand in hand in making Austin one of the more attractive and rapidly growing cities of its size. As for our state, Minnesota is said to have exceeded its ten thousand sparkling lakes when it produced a greater number of the frisky furred creatures known as gophers. We salute the gopher state!

What Is School?

If Austin could be described as a large "wheel of activity," the hub might well be our high school. The school's academic set-up, social life, and athletic influence flow to all parts of Austin. During the fall, everyone anxiously awaits the football games, many students cheering the team whether they play at home or away. The basketball season, with its tournaments, however, is still the big sports item of the year.

It's Not All Work

Pleasant memories of plays, assemblies, and parties tend to overshadow the gloomy hours of classroom study. Transforming many a school day into fun and relaxation, these memories make everyone look forward to another year at Austin High.

Schools Expand

Unlike the state, we can't say that Austin is particularly noted for its gopher population. Rather, its claim to fame lies in its increasing human population which is straining school facilities to their present limits and demanding more and bigger buildings.

Most recently opened is the new Neveln grade building which welcomed an overflowing number of pupils on the opening day last September and has been bursting its seams since. Additional classrooms were being planned before the school had been in session six months. Shaw and Sumner grade schools have had new additions within the last few years and more of the same undoubtedly loom in the future.

Work Is Necessary

Important for living in our democracy is a thorough educational background. A wide slate of academic and vocational courses is offered to all Austin High School students. Some of the more ambitious scholars prefer higher math and science while many others select courses where less effort is required. Of course, all the students put their study hall periods to the best use possible!

Play Is Needed, Too

Of course you've heard the saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." How true it is! Everyone knows that a well-rounded personality requires that the student participate in extra-curricular affairs as well as play the role of the proverbial book-worm. It would be difficult, indeed, for any of us to say truthfully that nothing here interests us, for our school system offers jobs to be done, clubs, and sports to fill the needs of either the most studious or lazy.

For those musically inclined, Austin has bands, orchestras, and choruses.

The fellows desiring to run off excess energy can try out for any of their school's fine athletic teams, while the more ambitious of the girls may lose a few of those extra pounds by signing up with the Girls' Athletic Association. Equally important to many are the organizations such as the Hi-Y and the Friendship Club, where everyone can get together for a good time as well as accomplish many useful projects.

Paralleling our school growth is our community expansion. Heading the list of city-wide developments has been our Sterling Shopping Center which provides quite a contrast to some of the aging buildings on Austin's main street.

Gophers don't dance and gophers don't go to proms—but if they did, they would enjoy attending Austin's proms.

Prime entertainment feat of the junior class, the 1951 Prom was held at the Terp ballroom on May 29. Maestro Cliff Kyes and his orchestra controlled the downbeats.

Well-filled dance programs were checked minutely before each new number began, and again couples changed partners to swing into the strains of a waltz. Halfway through the evening, junior and senior officers and their partners took the lead in the Grand March as full lights came on for the benefit of chaperones and guests.

Flash bulbs flickered, and the soft swish of many feet could be heard above the music as the endless lines went through the formations of the March.

On they danced through the cool evening, stopping only occasionally for a refreshing bottle of pop. Many of the less enduring couples made their way to the booths for a few minutes of much-needed rest.

Although the Prom itself ended at midnight, it did not finish the festivities. Private parties were held in individual homes, and larger groups adjourned to the Country Club. Yes, a gopher might well remember this night long after his golden gopher skin has turned to silver.

Join the Party

After the ball was over, nearly all the promenaders attended the party at the Country Club. Following an evening of dancing and eating, several became involved in a little dare. Some ingenious lad suggested a bit of golf, and without much persuasion he had twelve droopy-eyed volunteers beside him. Their score being in the low seventies after the first hole, they decided to move on to another party.

Later, the prom-goers decided it was high time for breakfast, so they became self invited guests at the home of one of their group. With some food in their stomachs, they picked up added energy and strength to call on other friends for second breakfasts.

Many hours and many courses later, the party-goers (very full and tired) decided to head for home. They were happy that the day was a holiday, as they would undoubtedly have been late for first hour class.

'52 Is the Best

It took a decade, but the renowned class of '52 placed their famous names on the gold AHS Field Day plaque as juniors.

This is how it all came about:

'Twas the morning of Field Day
 All through the town
 Cars, trucks, and busses
 Were athletic-field bound.
 Sun-scorched contestants
 Ate lunch at eleven
 The score still remained
 Juniors leading! It was heaven.
 With the rope in their hands
 And their heels in the dirt
 The strong-headed juniors
 Came through with real work.
 When the big day was over
 It found seniors forlorn.
 But '52 was joyous
 With the history they'd borne.

Memories Will Linger

When autumn leaves begin to fall and school is well on its way, familiar sounds of homecoming plans are first whispered and soon turn out to be the topic of every conversation. Waiting anxiously for the big event, girls wonder who their date will be and try to decide what they are going to wear. With the boys it's different. They wait for the game, and challenge their nerves as long as they can, but at the last minute ask a girl for a date for the mixer.

Highlighting this year's homecoming was Donna Hanson, Austin's 1952 Homecoming Queen, who was crowned by Student Council President Dale Anderson.

Reigning over all activities, Queen Donna was accompanied by her four beautifully attired attendants. Her majesty and her maids—Shirley Larkin, Dorothy Hawkins, Joann Orcutt, and Jane Plager—were presented with rich bouquets of bronze, yellow, and white chrysanthemums. Joan Kester added a soft touch to the coronation with her solo, "The Sweetheart of Austin High."

A hilarious pep skit, patterned after a TV show, was given by upper class girls.

The parade, one of the most colorful events of Homecoming, was held immediately after the crowning. "Night and Day, Victory Shines" was the theme of the winning float.

It's a Colorful Event

Want to hear the understatement of the year? "Sports-minded Austinites highlighted their traditional homecoming with a football game."

Not just "a football game" is any encounter with Albert Lea, arch rival of the Packers. Winning 33-7, Austin added another win to its long string of victories. Dayle Rasmussen and Bob Hastings opened the scoring in the first period, and the locals averaged a touchdown per quarter to clinch the win.

Half-time entertainment featured another appearance of the Homecoming royalty together with winning floats.

The day's festivities were closed with a post-game mixer based on a Rose Bowl theme on which GAA committees worked feverishly. Austin and Albert Lea students plus faculty and alumni entered the cafeteria through an archway of red and white roses to dance to the music of Rollo Sissell.

Fatten Those Purses

Woe and behold the poor stockboy!

If he is the only stockboy employed at the place of business, that is worse yet. He not only unpacks new goods but also prices them and arranges displays. Other duties include sweeping floors, washing windows, dusting merchandise, mailing letters, taking the census of the paper bags in the store, and finally he has the nervewracking job of buttoning items that some portly customer did not take a few seconds to rebutton.

If you venture in any clothing store employing an Austin High School student, you probably will be told, "Try this on for size!"

Besides persuading likely-looking customers to buy clothes, these working students also double as assistant to the assistant manager.

Many boys work as theater ushers, lifeguards, or hold positions at the Hormel plant. Carhops, clerks, and stenographers seem to be favorite choices of the girls. All in all, a variety of jobs is open to high schoolers who are prospective workers.

Gaining Experience

He's just a "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," but to our hero, his job means fun. It keeps him supplied with enough money to buy himself a treat and to take his girl out during the weekend. This is how he got his job:

During the early part of the school year, he was sitting in two study halls every afternoon and figured that he could be using his time to better advantage. One day, while walking past the coordinator's office, our hero decided to investigate the possibilities of a part-time job. When Coordinator Harold Kannady inquired, "What can I do for you?" the boy asked, "Is there a part-time job for me if I get a work permit during the afternoon?"

After consulting his files, Mr. Kannady pulled out a paper that had "shoe shine boy" written on it. There were other jobs, too, but this one seemed most attractive. Our hero was given a card and told to see the manager of the store as soon as possible.

After the lad had an interview with the manager and learned about hours and pay, he was sold on the idea of a job. Since then, he has been a'whistlin' and a'shinin' all day long.

Jobs Supply Money

A large number of the students attending Austin High School work part-time. Their jobs will help train them for their future choice of occupations, or may be of use to them if they go on to college.

"No not that way, a little more to the left. Now turn it toward the street." These words would sound familiar to you if you helped Janice Lillquist prepare a Christmas display at a local dime store.

Working in a bank, as Gordon Clingman does, can prove to be a job with good advancements in the future. Keeping track of that "cold cash" isn't exactly easy when you get tangled in figures.

Stenographic work as it is set up in the office of the Hormel plant is an interesting job for a student who likes any phase of office work. Preparing for future vocations while in high school, will help students to advance more rapidly in their particular fields.

The business department of our high school offers students many vocational subjects such as retailing, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and comptometry.

Life Goes to a Party

Gathered around the dancing flames of the fireplace, listening to soft music, and roasting marshmallows is the way many students like to spend their evenings. In addition, some would rather go to mixers or shows or other forms of entertainment. Whether one favors the former or the latter, everybody likes to entertain and everybody likes to go to parties.

Sometimes these get-togethers are everyday gossip fests while at other times the gang will get together in someone's "rec" room to spin the latest discs. Big or small, fun-loving Austinites enjoy parties.

It's a Jamboree

Inviting the gang in for a snack and a couple of dances most of the time turns out to be a lively party. It seems that the kids relax and make themselves at home when the affair is informal.

Mom and dad usually get the assignments as chief cooks and bottle washers because their offspring can't take time out. It has been known for the "old folks" to join the party and teach the gang a couple of new Charleston steps. Or Dad may get the fellas in the corner to tell them about the good old days when he played on the team.

You wouldn't believe it, but a lot of times little sister or brother's games are brought out, and before you know it everyone is waiting for a chance to try them. Just about the time a game is in full swing, the appetizing smell of popcorn or hot chocolate drifts out of the kitchen, and—you guessed it—Mom's been at it again. She wanted the group to "have something warm in their stomachs" before starting home.

Some warbler starts the old tune, "Good Night, Irene," and then before the gang leaves, everybody joins in on a chorus and it's decided that there should be a songfest before the party breaks up.

The person who can play the piano takes his place (this has happened once or twice before) and away they go. No one is bashful about his voice, because at this time of night a person's voice gives out anyway!

Let's Have a Party

"You've got the rec room. Let's have a party at your house!" That sentence is repeated day in and day out in the halls of AHS. A recreation room isn't exactly needed for the party, though, as many a jamboree has been held in a little living room. If you can remember back during the past year, a few of these ideas may sound familiar:

You arrived a little late, but the party wasn't in full swing yet. You flopped yourself down on the nearest chair, and just as soon as your feet got up on the coffee table you were tagged for a dance. After ten encores, you heard the cry — "Come and get it!" What a plate! Hot dish, rolls, cake, pop, pickles, potato chips—and this is just the first helping.

After indulging heartily until the last bit of food was gone, the "belle of the ball" begins to liven things up again (not knowing, of course, that a few eaters may have a bit of indigestion) and some jive records start things rolling. Around ten-thirty, some joker suggests the midnight show, so off we go. Eating a "midnight" snack at 2 a.m., we're bound for home.

The next morning the thought occurred to us that it was a good thing we had the party on Friday night, because Mom would have had a hard time getting us up for school.

The Night's Young

Have you attended your quota of seven birthday parties today? Since there are approximately 2,200 students in Austin High School, and 366 days in a leap year, the result is an average of seven birthday parties daily—and the census at each shindig would be some 300 plus. What a headache for any host or hostess!

If you like variety in your parties, however, Austin will supply it. Girls specialize in potluck suppers and bunking spree, while boys usually get together with food for their major consideration. You'll never find any boys at a social gathering unless there is plenty of "pop, ice cream, and cake!"

Skating parties, dancing parties, and the parlor-game kind staged at home are popular variations of the boy-girl theme. Much more formal (at the start, anyway) are the Junior-Senior Prom, the dances sponsored by Job's Daughters, and the party given by the coaches at the Country Club in honor of the football team.

While WPA (Women Pay All) week is sponsored by the Senior Friendship Club in a definite attempt to let the girls coax the shy males into dating, much of the pairing off is the result of getting to know classmates through school associations. "Going steady" is a popular phrase in Austin.

Grab Your Guy!

"Rope 'em in" and "brand your man" were familiar sayings around old AHS during the annual WPA week in February.

Women Pay All, sponsored by the Senior Friendship Club, is a gala affair—especially for the boys. They stand with anxious expressions watching the girls scrape up a dime for popcorn at the show, or maybe some pop at the WPA "chuckwagon."

A typical western theme was carried out with the help of the "ranch hands." The girls were eager to get their tags to show that they had roped their man for the Tom Mix-er. Out of curiosity, even faculty members stopped occasionally at the booth to see who those lucky critters were.

This being Leap Year inspired the kids to try to make this WPA week the best ever.

Seeing Double?

In Providence, Rhode Island, they think it's quite a feat to have seven sets of twins in one of their schools, but Austin's record beats that. The senior class alone boasts ten sets.

It was fun circulating among the twins to get their opinions on being half of a set, sharing, and confusing people in general.

Remember the "fire twins" with the red hair? Janiece and Joan Ulven have had a few times when they have tricked someone pretending they were the other twin.

Identical twins Don and Dayle Rasmussen think it is "great" to be twins. While the rest of us might wonder what it's like to walk down the hall and see ourselves, Don and Dayle don't have the problem of wondering what clothes belong to which twin. They are alike in size too, so they just put on the first they see.

It's Double Trouble

When speaking of twins around AHS, none of us fails to include the Richards, Frank and Floyd. As Mrs. Blanche Black, math instructor, will tell you, these boys really know their trig.

The Hovland twins, Nancy and Nate, oddly enough aren't alike at all. In fact, they often have trouble convincing people that they really are twins. In the same boat as the Hovlands, are the Harbos — Virginia and Glenna—who neither look alike nor have similar interests "Being twins seems very natural," is the opinion of Lawrence and Florence Hertle.

Bill Houston, being 10 minutes older than twin brother Bob, thinks he should be able to tell Bob what to do. However, it seems that it doesn't always work that way. Brian and Sharon Fischer enjoy doing things together.

All in all, Austin High School is lucky to have such a wonderful bunch of kids!

School Days Are Daze

School days, drool days,
Vocational themes, and "daddy pays;"
English, and social, and science, too,
Counting as credits—graduation, whew!

School days are known to be the best days of your life whether you believe it now or not. Cramming until the wee hours of the morning, wishing you had listened a little closer in class, writing long drawn-out themes, your teachers, and all that make up your school life will always be in the back of your mind. Already you remember many funny incidents, or a lot of embarrassing moments during your school years, and you chuckle to yourself looking over the past during the process of growing up.

In a few years, it will be fun to get out the old yearbooks and reminisce about the good old days, and of course you'll be remembering your school days.

Do You Like Varnish?

Many things in life can be recognized by smell, and that's just the way a lot of the classes in AHS can be identified.

The aroma of varnish and lacquer fumes floating out of the old cafeteria can be accredited to the painting and decorating class. If you walk through the room, you may hear such phrases as "throw me the paintbrush," "toss me a hammer," "get me a saw," or "grab the turpentine."

Oh, those lucky girls who take home management third hour. "They must be baking sweet rolls," you might think to yourself if you were sitting in a class near the home ec rooms. Just about that time of day, you really begin to get hungry and the delightful odor of food makes you wish you had taken home ec yourself. Oh well, just one hour before lunch. It's 9:33 Again

What is it that every AHS student looks forward to? You're right. Assemblies.

Assemblies really come in handy after many strenuous days of school and routine schedules. It's funny how the spirit of the students picks up when the announcement comes over the Public Address, "We will have an assembly this morning at 9:33." Every year, assembly programs seem to be bigger and better.

Once again, Mr. C. E. Jones, a familiar figure to the AHS students during the past few years, presented an electronics assembly that was of special interest to the scientific minded students and the Academy of Science club. Mr. Jones had four students on the stage helping him to demonstrate how he could pour liquid electricity into a metal container.

Who said that monkeys don't say prayers? If you saw the assembly presented by Mr. Theodore Augspurg and his lovable monkeys, you would have begun to wonder. It must have taken a lot of patience to train those little characters to perform so many human tricks. Too bad more people can't have monkeys for their pets. "Monkey do what monkey see!" Take Time Out

"Canadian Capers" might be a good name for the assembly presented by Ben Ferrier. Together with a colored movie and costumes, he told about life in the wilderness of Canada. One big measure of student approval was a general desire to drop everything and head for the North Country.

Garbed in his western outfit and different accent, Paul Mix, a lariateer, gave a performance that kept his intent audience on the edge of their seats. Jumping through ropes, hoops, and twisting many a fancy knot, he was thoroughly accepted by his seventh grade audience.

"A Lady in Red," Pat Seneff, and her marimba were a special attraction at one of the senior high assemblies. She played a variety of numbers including "Tico Tico," and "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

Short scenes of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" were given by talented Jack Rank. His one-man performance amazed the audience with its variety of character, voice, and costume.

Just Thinking

As they wind up their final year, many seniors like to look back and reminisce about the highlights of their final days in school.

As we recollect the hilarious pep skit that was given the afternoon of Homecoming, we all laugh when we think of the many crazy outfits and corny jokes. The GAA girls really did a good job in entertaining.

Oh, yes, that mock wedding that some girls put on at the first meeting of Dirk and Bauble was a killer! You'd think Austin students were really hillbillies.

Pass the steak sauce! It couldn't be anything but the senior girls' party at the Old Mill. Tripping around in heels and sporting the new fashions, they agreed they should get together more often.

We can't forget dates. They're some of the highlights of a high school career. To get a date with a Casanova is really a dream. And '52 is the best year!

Staff Puts in Long Hours

Attending the Big Nine Yearbook Conference in Northfield this year were ten members of the Austinian staff. Through a discussion clinic, the students learned some of the characteristics of a good yearbook.

This year's Austinian staff selected the gopher and its relationship to Minnesota as the theme of the 1952 annual.

Sentinel Takes New Honors

For complete coverage of school activities, the Sentinel provides the students of Austin High with a top-ranking newspaper. The editors and the business manager, all former journalism students, work with the members of the journalism classes to produce the paper.

Members of the Sentinel editorial staff and six members from the Austinian attended the State High School Press Convention in Duluth. Jane Plager, editor-in-chief, participated in a student discussion panel on substitutes for gossip. Attending other discussions and lectures, the students learned from experts the factors distinguishing outstanding publications.

As in previous years, the Sentinel received a high rating from the National Press Association. The homecoming issue was given an honor award by the Columbia Press.

Managing the State Capitol for two days was the major objective of the Hi-Y Clubs of Minnesota early in March. Previous to this, a meeting was held at Macalester Col-

A chartered bus, a spring vacation, and much educational sightseeing were all features of the YMCA trip to Washington D.C. and New York City.

The Hi-Y club, under the guidance of Mr. Robert Meinhard and Mr. Robert Roberts, worked hard on many worthwhile projects throughout the year. Under the supervision of Mr. Ralph Schloming, executive secretary of the YMCA, the club did volunteer paper work at the local YMCA office. The club's annual banquet in February featured a debate in which the six boys who went to the State Capitol participated.

The Ushers' club once again handled all ushering assignments at basketball games, concerts, plays, Civic Music, and other special events.

Members Plan Projects

Organized this year for the first time was the Junior High Science Club, open to junior high students interested in science. Meeting twice a month, the members study the microscope, electricity, and various experiments as their club projects.

Science also prepare projects for the various meetings. Learning to handle experiments is the general aim of the club.

These two science organizations sponsored the assembly in which Dr. Mark Graubard, University of Minnesota science professor, spoke.

Club Continues To Grow

To create friendlier relations among the many students of Austin High is the prime interest of the girls belonging to Senior Friendship Club. During the opening days of school, the club members acted as student guides. Numerous new students found these genial guides very helpful in finding new lockers and classrooms.

In September, the Friendship Club conducted its membership drive, acquiring the largest club membership in the entire school. A fall mixer, complete with orchestra and decorations, was also included on the club's activity calendar.

Senior Friendship Club president, Barbara Gaddis, and her cabinet planned the entire program for the year and headed the committees for these events.

In May, a formal installation was held for the new officers and cabinet. The Misses Lena Grinley, Abigail Moore, Marie Hendrickson, Mary Yocum, and Dorothy Down are the faculty advisers for the club.

One very successful meeting of the year featured a panel discussion on dating. Members of both SFC and Hi-Y participated. Pertinent questions concerning prom dating were discussed.

Auction Nets Profit

"Going, going, gone!" was heard at the slave auction which highlighted the November meeting of the Latin Club. Ted Colescott, auctioneer, sold more than 40 slaves to other Latin students. The slaves are really the first-year Latin students who are freed and made citizens at the beginning of their second year.

The $25 received from the auction went toward club projects such as a donation to an elementary school in Greece, an assembly film "Triumph over Time," and service pins which were awarded to the graduating members.

The March meeting in honor of Julius Caesar was followed by a Roman dinner in April. A wedding, complete with all the traditions of early Rome, was held in the Spring.

The society also has a motto—"Carpe Diem" or "Use your opportunity." Members have an easier wording: "Hop to it!"

Spaniards Inhabit North

Working on a point system this year, the members of Spanish Club earned award pins. Points were awarded to those attending the meetings and to those selling at concessions.

The new members of the club will long remember their initiation into Spanish Club. The event began with a horror tunnel and treasure hunt, and ended with the formal induction.

Other meetings were devoted to a study of various Spanish-speaking nations. One meeting of particular interest featured colored slides taken by Mrs. Ralph Schloming while on tour in Mexico.

Poking pinatas, an old Mexican custom, was the main feature of the club's Christmas party. Three chances to break the pinata were given to a blindfolded guest, and members then scrambled for the contents which included candy, gum, and gifts.

Photography --- A Hobby

Under the supervision of Messrs. Gordon Fogdall and Earl Brooks, the high school camera club members acquire further knowledge in the field of photography. Club membership consists of junior and senior high school students who are interested in this activity.

Meeting every first and third Tuesday of the month, the students work on such projects as developing film, contact photography, enlarging, indoor photography, toning prints, and tinting. Several photography contests were held with awards given to the winners. Students were also encouraged to submit pictures in the Eastman Kodak contest which is a national affair.

Officers of the Camera Club are James Eckhardt, Gordon Goick, and Aloha Patch.

Austin Has Convention

Junior and senior Future Homemakers of America girls try to develop themselves into better home managers as well as capable citizens.

Monthly meetings are held with the luncheons and entertainment given by committees.

During the Christmas holidays, the members sang Christmas carols at several rest homes, and also packed boxes containing toys, clothes, and food for needy families in and around Austin.

In March Norma Anderson, Barbara Jacobsen, Peggy McLaughlin, and Nancy Warner represented the club at the state convention in Minneapolis.

Girls Practice Homemaking

To learn to do activities related to home economics is the general purpose of the busy Seventh Grade Home Economics Club, a newly organized group this year.

Divided into six project groups, the more than 80 members learned to cook, sew, knit, and crochet while several groups played games and acted out plays.

Making bean bags in the shape of bats was the activity of the sewing group. In the knitting division, the girls made holders. All of these Home Economics Club activities were under the supervision of student directors.

At the Christmas party, the members exchanged gifts and sang carols around the Christmas tree.

A picnic lunch preceded all of the noon meetings of the club.

Students Help Out

To provide valuable training in library procedures, sociability, and club projects is the aim of the library service club. These service club girls also help in organizing and planning the seventh grade assemblies.

Attendance at all meetings plus 120 hours of service per year means an award at the end of the year. These awards, financed by a concession at a game, are distributed at the annual awards assembly.

Approximately fifteen junior and senior high school girls help out in Mr. Warren's office during the various hours of the day. These energetic helpers collect attendance and cafeteria slips from the individual rooms as well as help record the daily attendance for the school. This work is done on a voluntary basis.

Volunteer work is also done for Mr. Christgau, superintendent of buildings, by girls who work during a study hall period.

These girls answer phone calls, type letters, act as receptionists, locate custodians throughout the building, and do many other such worthwhile tasks.

Austin Has Speech Festival

One of the main events for the year for Dirk and Bauble was the Big 9 speech festival held March 5 in Austin.

Almost 400 visiting students representing all the schools in the Big 9 participated in the event which closed with a dinner.

Interpretative readings, extemporaneous speeches, memorized oratory, radio skits, and plays filled the day. There were also discussions on the purpose of student government and a debate on military conscription.

Student leaders included Virginia Harbo, general chairman; Barbara Smith, dinner chairman who was assisted by Dorothy Hawkins and Glenna Harbo; Dorothy Hawkins, publicity; Jackie Davis, plays; and Jane Plager, lunch.

Thespians Give Plays

Thirty sophomores were initiated into the Thespian Drama Club, supervised by Miss Lorna Bates. As part of their initiation, they were required to wear strange costumes and were glad to comply so that they might take part in a number of one-act plays and radio skits during the year.

To own a frilly pink dress was the dream of Julie LaVine who portrayed a hill-billy girl in "Pink and Patches." She thought her dream was fulfilled when Alice Ferguson, the summer lady, gave her a dress. This dress turned out to be brown like all she had owned.

Ken Evans, who won a contest with his sister's (Kay Weseman) essay, was to appear on a quiz program, and was changed to a girl by his guardian angel in "Out of This World."

"Sparkin'" was the hilarious comedy given in March. Peggy Schulze was the tobacco-chewing Granny; Bonnie Leck was Lessie; Pat Venema was Susan; and Ken Evans was Orry, Lessie's boy friend.

Ingeborg Odegaard was Mama in the several scenes of "I Remember Mama." Papa was played by Lenny Addington. Katrina, who wrote a book about her family, was Bette Nestegaard.

All-School Plays Cast

Open to all juniors and seniors who are interested in the many phases of dramatics such as makeup, properties, and publicity as well as acting, the Dirk and Bauble Club enjoyed a large and enthusiastic membership. The club was supervised by Austin's speech and dramatics instructor, Miss Cecily Spaulding.

A new plan instituted this year was the division of the members into small committees. Their purpose was to study the phase of dramatics that interested each member most. After preliminary study, actual work on the plays was begun.

The large membership also made possible the use of more complicated staging in the fall play.

Dirk and Bauble members helped Miss Spaulding with arrangements for the Big 9 Speech Festival held in Austin in March. Virginia Harbo was student chairman.

Grandpa Gets the Rocker

Charles McKallor, Barbara Smith

"You Can't Take It With You"

"You Can't Take It With You," a comedy in three acts, was the Dirk and Bauble's fall play.

Grandpa, played by Charlie McKallor, hadn't worked for 35 years, and had been "officially dead" for eight because his name had been put on the headstone of the hired man who had died. So now Grandpa didn't have to pay income tax.

Mama (Joan Orcutt) wrote plays and painted a picture of Mr. DiPinna (Tom Togas) in a Roman tunic. Setting off fireworks was Papa's (Jack Newberry) hobby, and ballet was Essie's (Jackie Davis.) Guy Elam played the flute and peddled his wife's homemade candy while he distributed material he had printed at home.

It was to this noisy, unpredictable family that Alice (Barbara Smith) brought her wealthy boy friend, Tony (Jerry Nangle,) and his high-strung parents, the Kirbys (Mary Best and Richard McGrath). After everyone including the Kirbys had spent the night in jail for disturbing the peace, all were reconciled. As they sat down together for dinner, Grandpa began to ask the blessing in his regular way, "Well, Sir—."

Miss Cecily Spaulding directed the play and Betty Bredemus was student director.

Large Cast Stars

A melodrama called "A Murder Has Been Arranged" was the spring play with setting on the stage of a London theater.

Mrs. Groze (Betty Rasmussen) planned a dinner party in honor of Sir Charles Jasper's (Dale Anderson) birthday at which time he was to inherit a million pounds. If Sir Charles died, the money was to go to his nephew, Maurice Mullins (Allan Schumacher) who plotted with Mrs. Groze to poison Sir Charles. He then became a delightful ghost.

Choristers Offer Concerts

The 85-voice chorus, under the direction of Paul O. Heltne, presented three concerts including the traditional Christmas drama. The buildings and towers of a city, a huge star, and angels blowing trumpets formed the background for the junior and senior choruses as they caroled "Sing and Re-joice" and "Joyous Bells of Christmas" in addition to the traditional holiday melodies. During the singing of carols, Mary and Joseph and the Christ Child were portrayed by Dirk and Bauble members. Others took the parts of the wisemen and shepherds.

More than half of this group appeared in the seventh annual presentation of Handel's Messiah in December. The fall concert featured Joanne Kester as soloist in "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," and "Era of Peace," which Bob Shaw directed at a rehearsal.

Vocalists Make Melody

Because of Austin's increasing number of students, the seventh graders had their own assemblies this year.

The junior chorus furnished the program on January 24, and the group also appeared with the senior chorus in the Christmas concert and in another concert given in February. Because of the illness of Mrs. Agnes Sjoquist, the junior chorus this year has been directed by Mr. Richard Lockwood. The group is open to students in grades eight and nine.

Young Players Hit High

A growing student interest in music is shown by the fact that this year's junior orchestra totals 85 members. Under the direction of Mr. Paul Heltne, they presented a concert at the seventh grade assembly in March, and appeared with the senior orchestra in January. Austin is one of the few schools in the state to have a junior orchestra, and none equals Austin's in size.

Play, Fiddle, Play

Being part of a high school music group is an experience that brings a great deal of pleasure and teaches an appreciation for good music. The orchestra, for example, played a variety of selections ranging from the serious "Prelude and Fugue in A Minor" to the carefree "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" in their fall performance. Marlyn Peterson and Virginia Harbo appeared in a violin-flute duet, "Serenade."

The orchestra's January concert featured

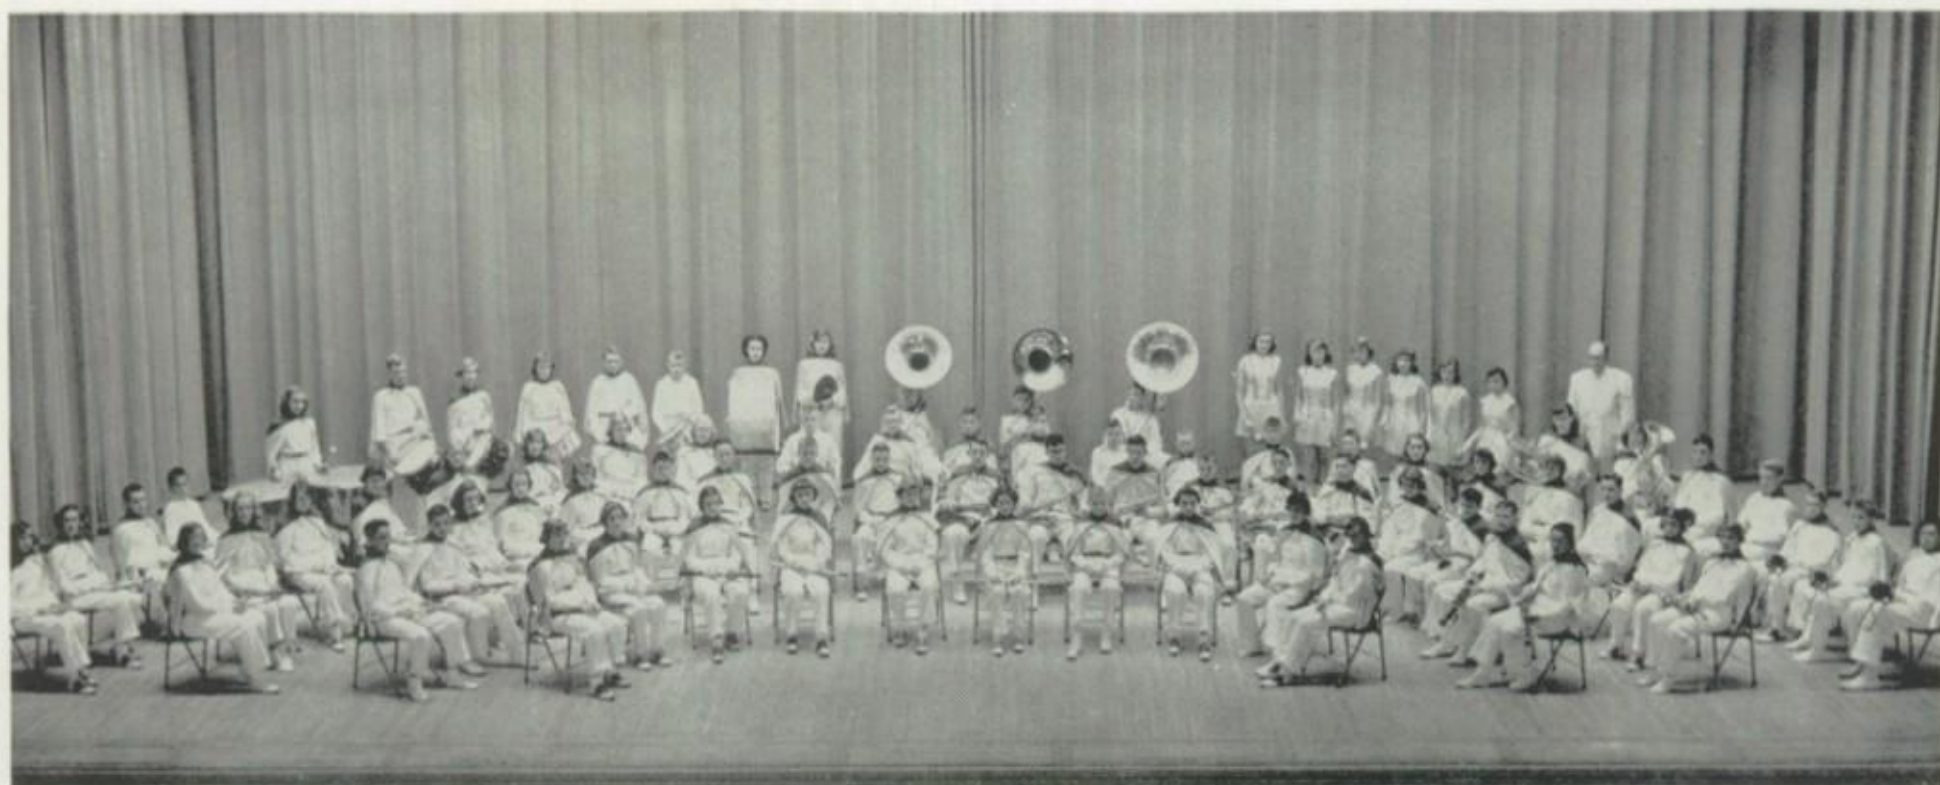

"Romance," which was played from the manuscript and arranged by St. Olaf college's strings instructor, Miss Beatrix Lien. Mozart's "Concerto in D Major" was performed at the spring concert.

The string quartet—Marlyn Peterson, Marjorie Hanson, Sharon Fischer, and Mary Jo Meister—played at several dinners, and also at the meetings of the Minnesota Chapter of American String Teachers' Association held at St. Olaf and Carleton colleges.

Harmony Is the Thing

Another feature of the seventh grade assemblies was starring the junior band in a program of their own. In previous years, they appeared only with the senior band. Mr. C. Vittorio Sperati's younger group marched in the Homecoming and Memorial Day parades, as well as appearing in a joint concert with the senior orchestra.

The beginners' band is open to those who did not learn to play an instrument in grade school but want to join the band.

Oh, To Play in the Band!

Vigorous applause greeted Coach Ove Berven's words at a pre-regional basketball pepfest when he told the student body, "We have the finest band in the state."

Putting in umpteen appearances for pep assemblies, basketball games, and in concert, the senior band went on the march during the football season and for the Homecoming parade.

Other civic-sponsored parades found the band in full dress and in top marching form.

Band members themselves highlighted the year with two Big 9 festivals instead of the usual one. Nine members traveled to the winter music meeting at Mankato, and the entire 80-piece band attended the second part of the festival—the parade and individual performances—at Winona.

A dream came true when the basketball team qualified for regional finals at Rochester in March and the band went along to add its share of support and pep. The state tournament found the band buses unloading at Williams Arena with neatly uniformed musicians swinging into action once more. Mr. C. V. Sperati is bandmaster.

Festival Is Fun Time

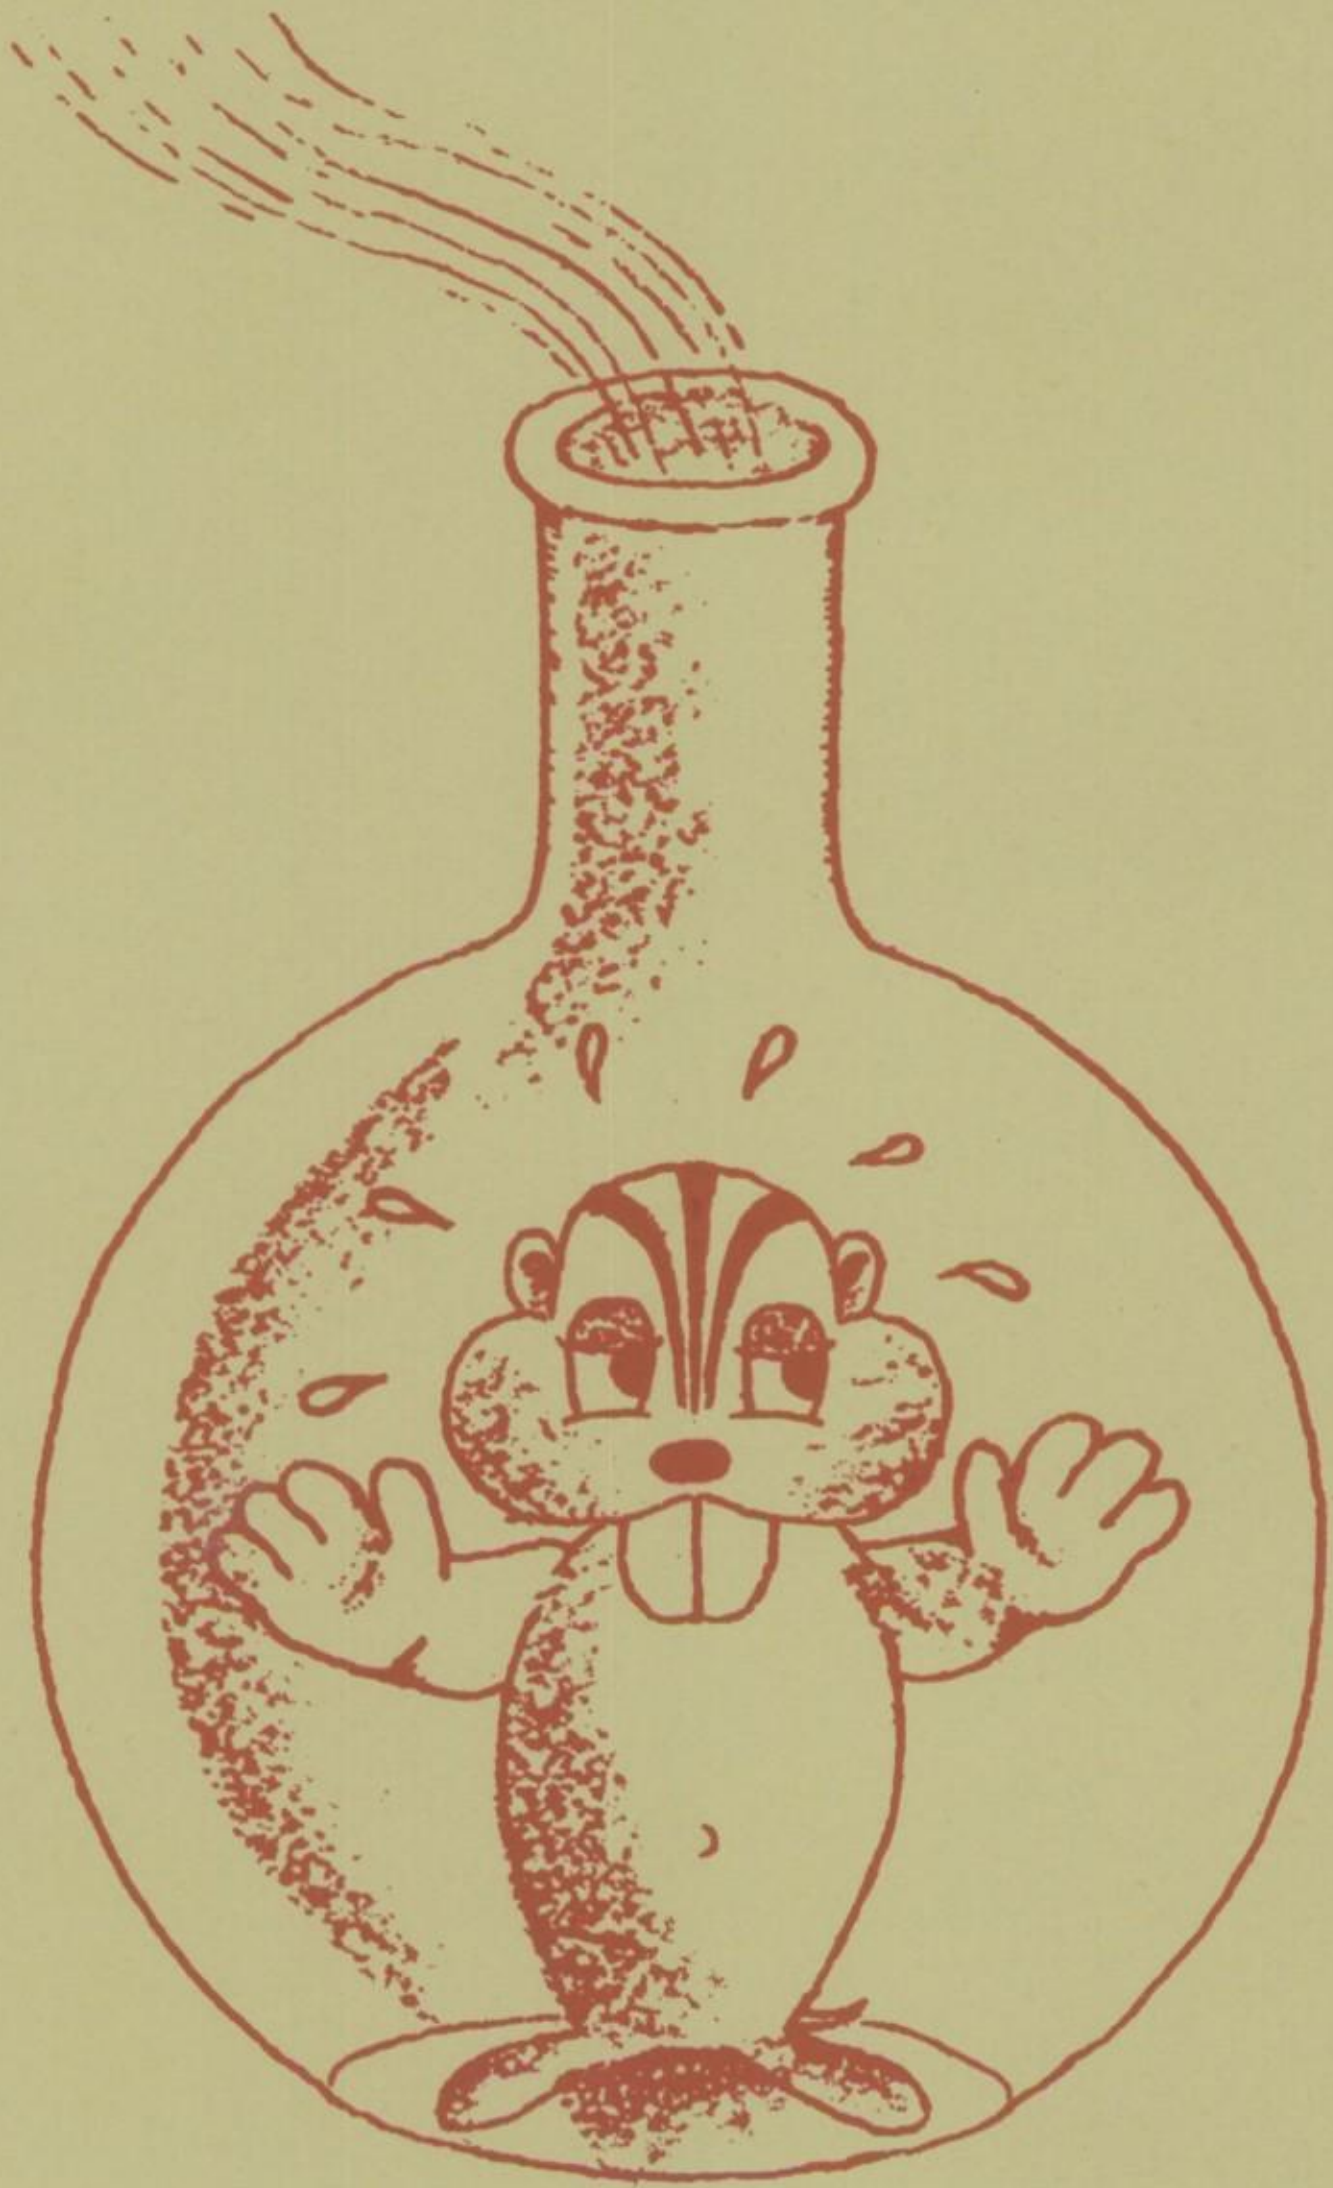

The 1951 Big 9 music festival was held in May with the entire band, orchestra, and chorus making the trip to Rochester. A select all-conference band and orchestra, together with the massed chorus, appeared at the evening performances. Music groups from each school auditioned and received criticisms and ratings. A parade of bands featured the late afternoon.

This year, because of the number of students involved, the all-conference groups, including Austin's delegation of 45, rehearsed together and gave an evening concert at Mankato in February. Guest conductors were Gerald R. Prescott, director of the University of Minnesota bands; Weston Noble, choir director at Luther College; and Hermann Herz, conductor of the Duluth Symphony Orchestra.

A second day of festival was held at Winona in May. Individual performances by schools and the parade of bands were on the program.

OUR CLASSES

Who Likes To Get Up?

Starting off each day with the rooster's crow, many a country student pops out of bed at a cheerful five o'clock in the morning in order to have time to eat and dress before the faithful orange bus comes around to take him to school.

At eight, all students report to class, to home room, or on rare occasions to the auditorium for an assembly. Assemblies in general are held in mid-morning. (What, no pepfest at the crack of dawn?)

Classes, study halls, library excursions, and between-class jaunts follow in regular routine, broken by an occasional office announcement: "Boys in FFA are asked to wear their jackets to the meeting tonight. That is all."

There was a time when the noon bell signaled the takeoff to a nonstop race to the cafeteria or home for lunch. Survival of the fittest was the rule. Not any more: Now each doorway is graced by starving faculty members who are just as hungry as the thundering herd, but whose job is regulating traffic.

"Wasn't My Fault!"

"It's all mother's fault! If she had wakened me, I wouldn't have had to face Mr. Warren in the attendance office. Brother, was I late this morning!"

Thus, one more small Minnesota gopher learned the consequences of staying up too late to study his lessons.

Are We Starved!

It doesn't always take a game to stir up a big appetite in Austin's loyal supporters, but it sure helps! Shown filling their plates at one of the many potluck suppers preceding the football games are several sophomore and junior girls.

Will It Fit?

"I like this ring! No, I don't!" This is some of the chatter heard among the juniors before deciding which ring they would like to order.

Virginia Shutt and Gayle Rosenbrock are typical Austin High juniors ordering their '53 class rings from one of the eight Austin jewelers.

Your Slip's Showing

Don't get the wrong idea. Senior Mavis Jacobson is collecting slips—for the attendance office, that is. Working in the attendance office has one advantage over study hall in that you can walk the halls without a building pass.

"2 x 2 = 4"

These brilliant comptometry students have come up with the above mathematical oddity. Foremost in the discovery are Sylvia Stokes, Nancy Hovland, Bob Tucker, Donna Winters, Marlene Baxter, and Dorothy Johnson. Classes like this prepare us for our life work.

Some Prefer Comics

Roger Moen, twelfth grade social teacher, no doubt would like to look on the other side of the books of a couple of Bills, namely Cook and Noun. While reading comic books is not a school policy, our Bills seem to enjoy it.

Is That Me?

Duane Martin takes a quick gander at his proofs while Marylue Godfredson makes an appointment to have her picture taken. Due to the senior pictures taken each fall, the photographers have a little splurge in their business. The pictures will always bring back fond (well, anyway) memories.

Picking Flowers

It appears "the bevy of beautiful belles" is picking flowers. It's just the opposite, however, as Sary Guy, Virginia Harbo, Barbara Burton, Marjorie Hanson, Jane Plager, Joan Leck, and Marlys Peterson are combining their dubious talents to produce a startling float.

Set 'em Up!

Hal Lamon, Ron McCoy, Dick Roush, Bill Noun, Gene Lohman, and finally Willis Cook stop for a pause that refreshes at the root beer stand. Many hot, parched throats are eased during the summer months but the demand for "ice cold" root beer in December is not as great.

Is It Dope?

Perish the thought! These hearty seniors are merely receiving their Mantoux tests for tuberculosis. Dave Burgeson seems intent on whether the needle will come out the other side of his arm, while Barb Burton looks on as if nauseated.

That'll Be 12¢

Lois Dunfee pays a small fine for an overdue book to a city librarian, Miss Figert, while Carl Tesch watches. Many seniors flock to the public library to procure material for their vocational themes and other school assignments.

Squeak! Squeak!

Don't get the idea that the presses in the printing room are antique. It's just that Bill Bentzin and Roger Baier, being driven mad by the squeaks, decided to do something about them. Quick, fellows—the flit!

Working?

By the serious expressions on the faces of editors Ron Harber and Dave Dale, one would think that they were composing some treatise of world consequence, but as we all know, this is the only testimony that they actually do anything.

"We're Through!"

"We're through." The sound echoes and reechoes through the emptying halls of the school. Thirteen years of classwork have culminated in these last few days. Standing out in the maze of "readin', writin', etc." is the final senior year into which have been crowded an extra-special homecoming, a particular prom, and lots of hard work.

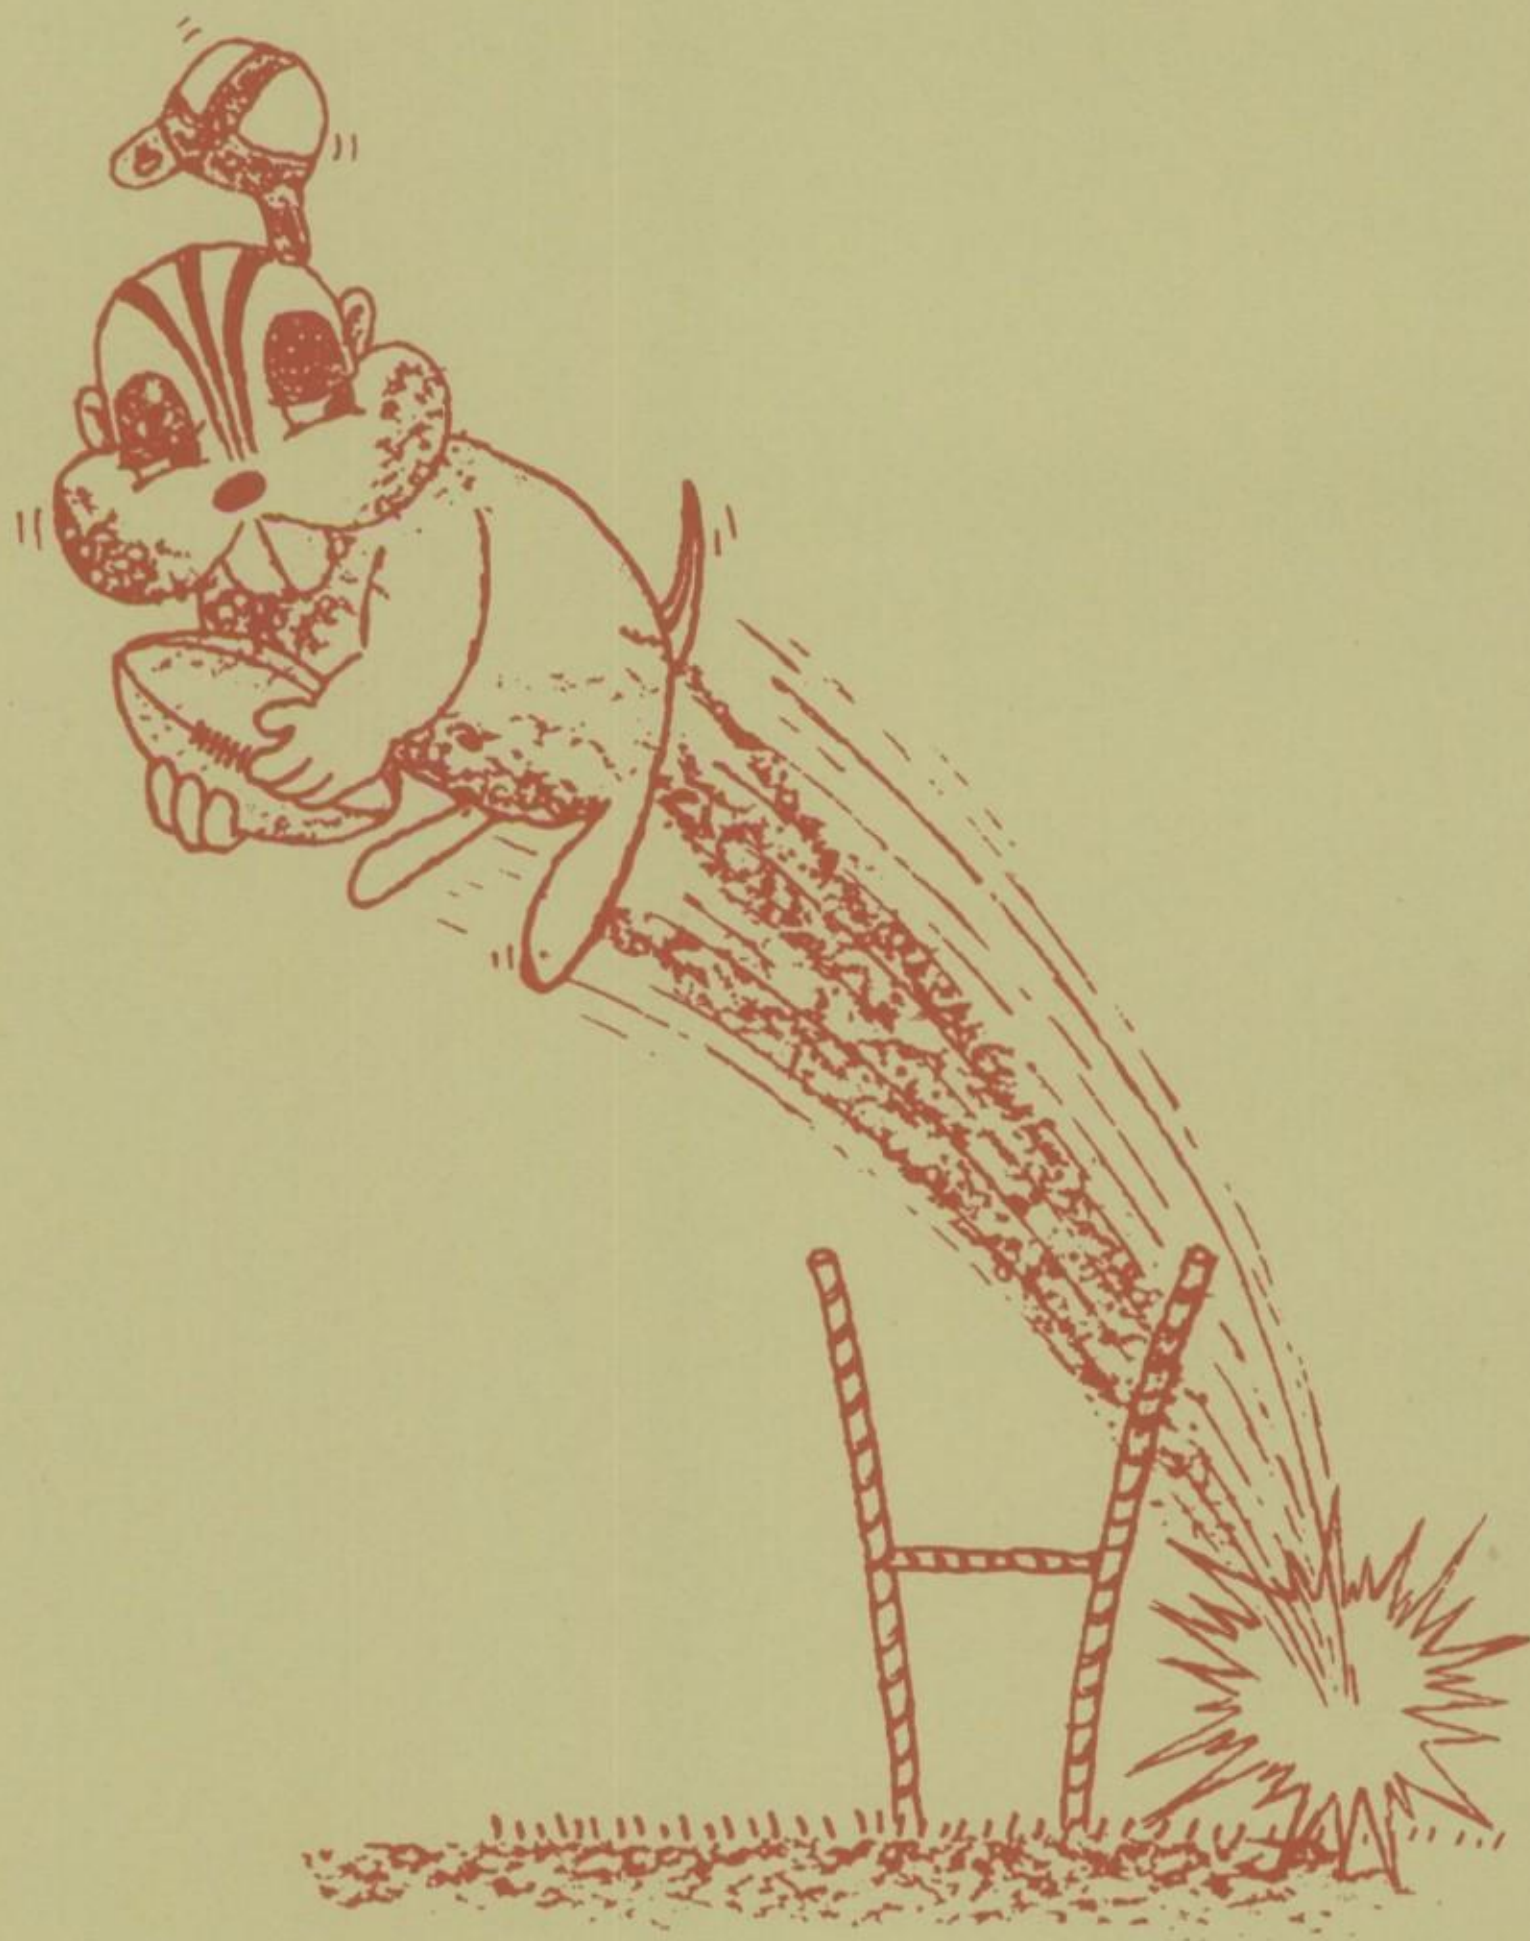

Of course, the seniors have other things to remember. They think happily of classes, clubs, mixers, and extracurricular activities. Sharing the limelight with these comparatively legal pastimes is the popular choice of skipping school—skip day that is!

The future holds various pathways for the graduated senior. Further schooling for those who yearn for more knowledge, working for a living, serving Uncle Sam—whatever the road, these graduates will remember AHS 1952.

We're Champs Again!

Another outstanding Austin grid squad was developed in 1951 by Head Coach Harold Hastings and his new aids, Gene Payne and Harold Cuff. The Packers, who boast a 31-game undefeated string, won their fifth consecutive Big Nine title and their third Litkenhous championship in five years. The Packers held second in state ratings until the final two weeks of the season when they overtook Hibbing. By copping the Litkenhous championship for the third time, Austin now has permanent possession of the huge traveling trophy.

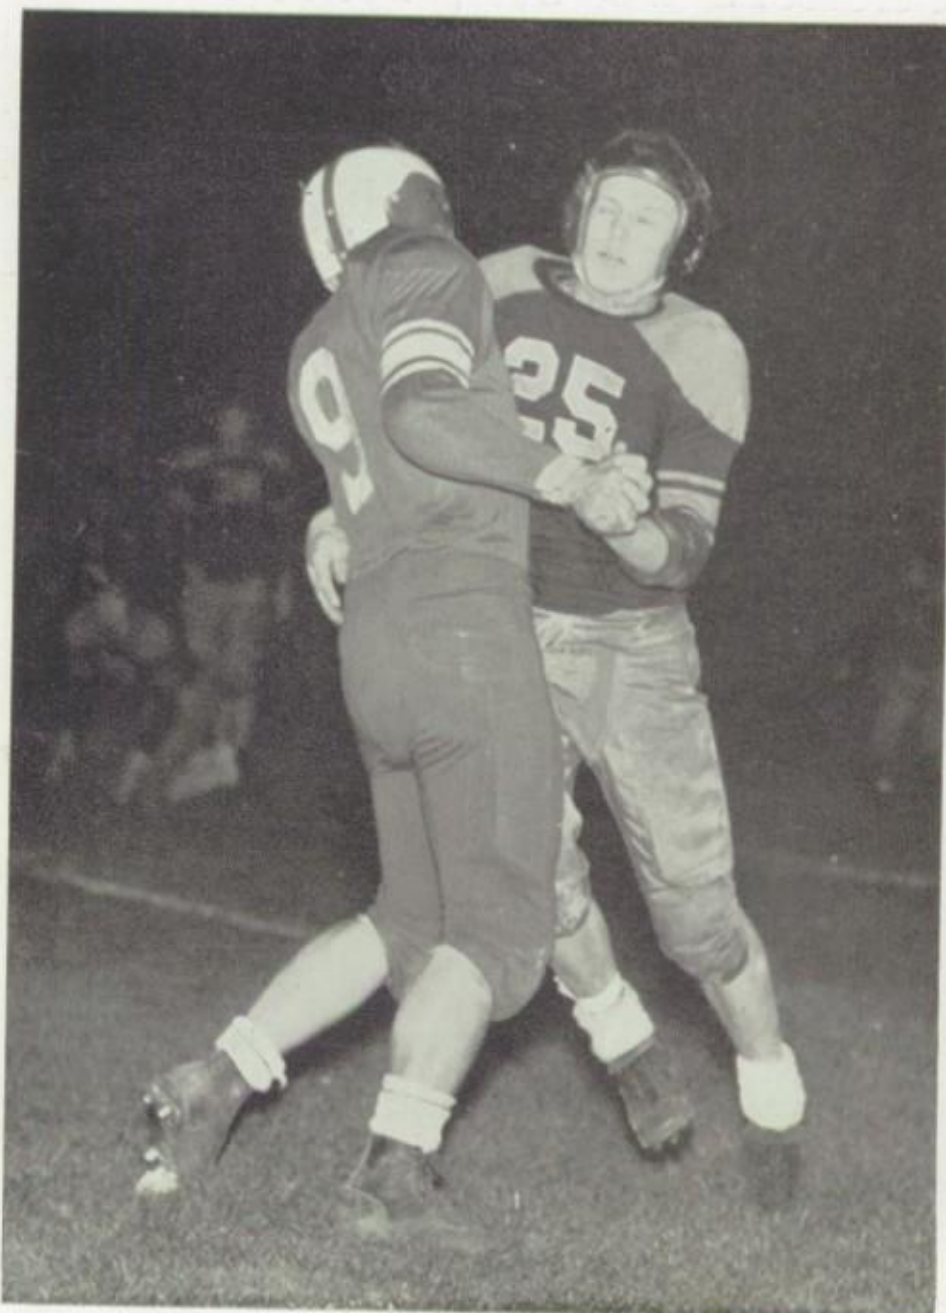

Two Packer backfield men, Don and Dayle Rasmussen, received additional honors when they were selected to a halfback position on the 1951 all-state football team.

Coach Hastings' crew opened their '51 grid season by topping non-conference foes St. Cloud and Minneapolis Southwest. The Packers began their conquest for the Big Nine title by topping Owatonna, Rochester, and Red Wing in successive tilts. Winona, Albert Lea, and Faribault fell in order, with the season's climax coming when Northfield was smothered 48-7.

Fifteen returning lettermen will greet Hastings for the '52 season, and around this nucleus he will attempt to mold another championship squad.

St. Cloud Whipped 31-19

With Don Rasmussen and Jim Jeffers each crossing the goal line twice, Austin powered to a 31-19 victory over St. Cloud Tech in their initial game of the 1951 season. The win was the 23rd in a row for the Austin-ites, who held a 25-6 lead at half-time. Quarterback Bob Hastings tallied the other touchdown for the Packers.

Scanning the Season

Southwest Routed 27-19

Austin gained win number two by stopping Minneapolis Southwest 27-19 in a strictly offensive contest. The Packer backfield, composed of Hastings, Jeffers, and the Rasmussen twins, stood out for the locals.

Owatonna Outscored 27-7

The Packers' opening Big Nine victory, a 27-7 decision over Owatonna, was dimmed somewhat by a serious injury to stellar full-back Jim Jeffers. Each member of the starting backfield scored while Barnett, Arnold, and Dale spearheaded the Packer defense.

Rochester Rapped 19-0

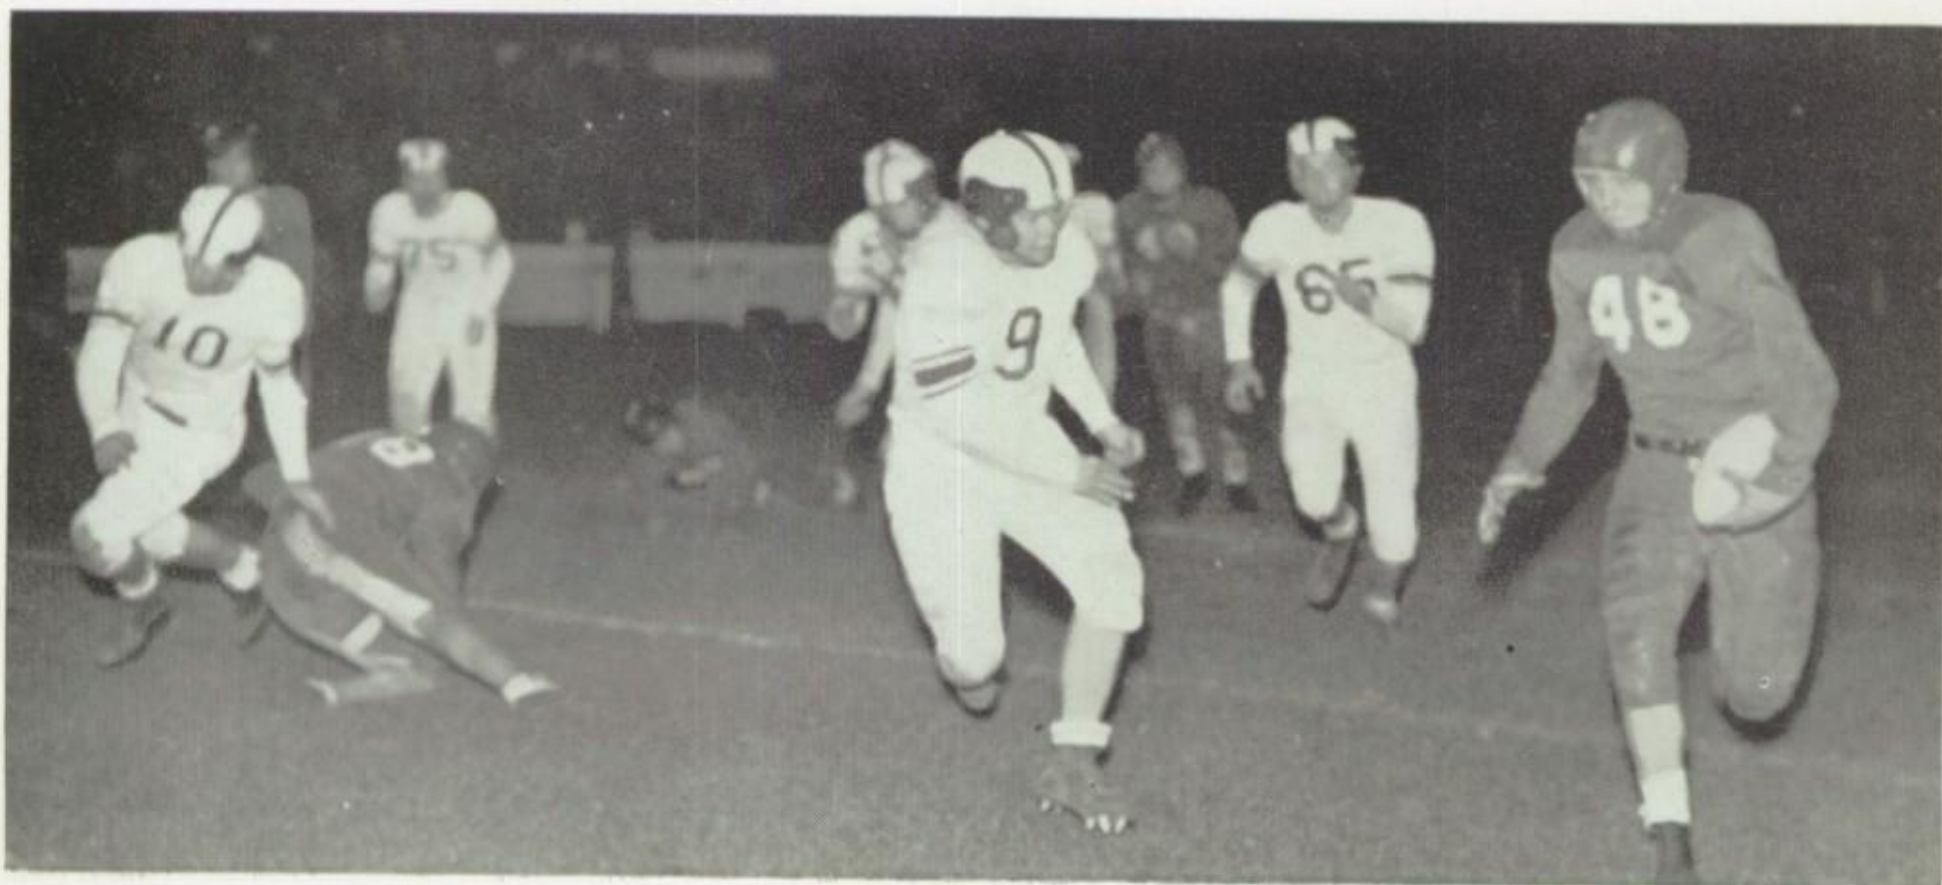

Gaining a win proved difficult for the Packers as they downed Rochester 19-0. Unable to get rolling, the team finally powered their way to paydirt in the waning moments of the second period.

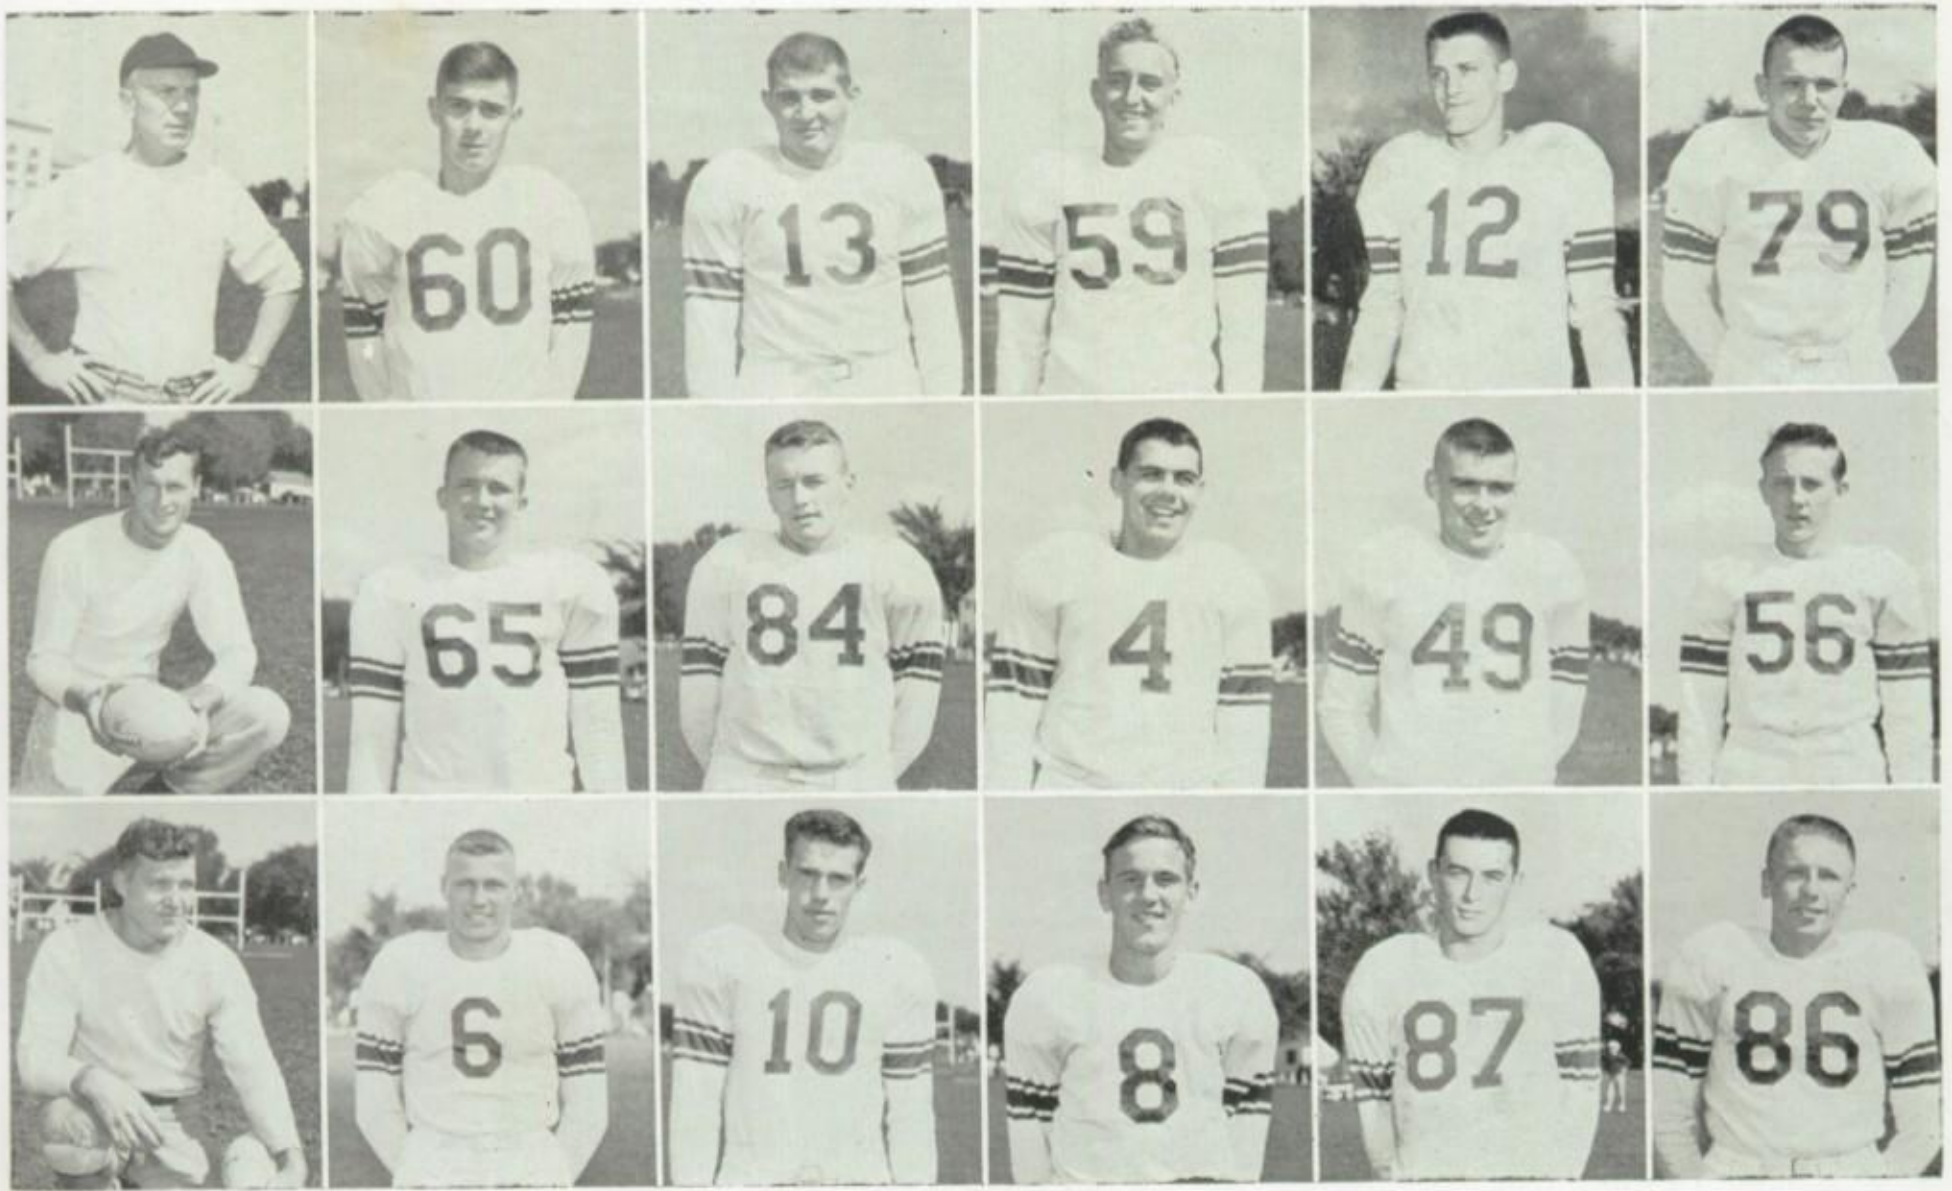

Red Wing Humbled 39-13

Austin outclassed Red Wing 39-13 to extend their undefeated string to 26. Dayle Rasmussen sparked the Packers by scampering for three touchdowns. Guard Bob Arnold snatched a Red Wing aerial and galloped 40 yards to score.

Faribault Blasted 21-0

Austin moved a step closer to another undefeated season by rolling over Faribault 21-0. Scoring for the Packers were Bob Hastings and Don Rasmussen. Linemen Norm Sollie, Bob Arnold, and Don Schillingler turned in exceptionally fine performances.

Northfield Bowled Over 48-7

The Packers routed Northfield 48-7 to extend their unbeaten string to 31 consecutive games and to give them another Big Nine Conference championship. The terrific Rasmussen twins, Don and Dayle, closed out their high school grid career with another brilliant performance by scoring two and three touchdowns respectively. Sophomore Frank Luksik booted six straight conversions after failing on his first try.

Among the 40 gridders who saw action during the year were 17 seniors playing their final game on Coach "Red" Hastings's Austin High School football team.

Scanning the Season

The season opener found the Austin five notching a 57-50 victory over Minneapolis South. Don Rasmussen and Dave Dale scored 15 and 13 points respectively to lead the Packer cause.

With Don and Dayle Rasmussen scoring 18 of the 19 Austin field goals, the Packers drubbed Mason City 53-38. Don finished with 25 markers, while brother Dayle tallied 19.

Austin nipped Minneapolis North 53-48 for the third straight win of the season. Don Rasmussen bucketed 17 points to gain scoring honors.

Conference win number one was racked up by Austin in their 45-39 win over Rochester. Feature of the close contest was Don Rasmussen's field goal from past midcourt at the end of the first quarter.

Albert Lea handed the Packers their first loss by scoring a 55-53 overtime win. Austin's ability to hit on only 15 out of 30 free throws contributed heavily to their initial defeat.

The Packers whipped two non-conference teams, Crosby-Ironton 61-53 and St. Louis Park 58-40, to run their season's record to six wins and a single loss. Don Rasmussen bagged 21 against Crosby-Ironton, while Dayle scored 17 against Park.

A surprisingly strong Winona team upset the Packers 50-44 to push them deeper in the Big Nine standings. A poor shooting percentage was the key factor in the Austin five's loss.

Austin returned to the winning trail by edging Mankato 52-51. Topping the Packer scorers again was Don Rasmussen with 15.

In another close battle, Austin copped their eighth win in 10 starts by downing Owatonna 51-48 in an overtime. Dave Dale and Don Rasmussen racked up 14 points apiece to pace the Austin attack.

The Packers hit their season's high score in drubbing a weak Faribault crew 71-47. The Rasmussen twins were the Packer scoring leaders with Don hitting for 14 and brother Dayle for 13.

Albert Lea came from behind to gain their second win over Austin 66-60. Packer forward Ron Harber netted 20 points in playing his top game of the season.

Austin dropped its fourth conference tilt as Rochester upset them 62-59. The loss virtually eliminated the Packers from gaining a share of the coveted Big Nine title.

In their final two contests, the locals trounced Northfield 62-36 and were defeated by a superior Red Wing five 66-42. Don Rasmussen again rated as the top Austin scorer in these contests by scoring 16 and 10 respectively.

Austin Wins District

Austin copped their opening District II tilt with a stunning 47-45 win over Albert Lea. The Albert Lea five gained an eight-point lead early in the third period, but the spirit of the fighting Packers narrowed the Tiger lead to four points at the quarter's end.

Led by Austin forward Bob Hastings, a pressing defense limited Albert Lea to four points in the final period. An overflow crowd of more than 4,000 fans screamed as Austin knotted the score and then forged ahead by one bucket. Don Rasmussen and Bob Hastings racked up 17 and 16 points respectively to lead the Austin crew.

The finals of the District II event found the improving Austin quint gaining a 58-45 victory over Rose Creek. The Creekers led briefly in the opening quarter, but once the Packers forged out in front, there was little doubt over the game's outcome. Topping the Austin scoring attack was Dayle Rasmussen with 20 markers.

Packers Cop Regional

Coach Berven's quint entered the Region I finals by drubbing Rochester 59-45. The Packers had little trouble with the Mayo City five, once leading them by 26 points. Scoring star for Austin was Dave Dale who pushed in 17 points.

Powerful Wanamingo was edged 59-55 by Austin before a capacity crowd at the Mayo Civic Auditorium in the finals of the Region I tourney. The Bulldogs grabbed a 14-point lead at the outset and were in command until the waning seconds of the third quarter when Ron Harber hooped in one of his six field goals to put the Packers ahead 41-40. Austin held its narrow margin throughout the remainder of the game despite the valiant efforts of the star-studded Wanamingo team. Harber and Austin's backcourt blitzes, Don and Dayle Rasmussen, were the Packer pacesetters.

Packers Win Opener at State

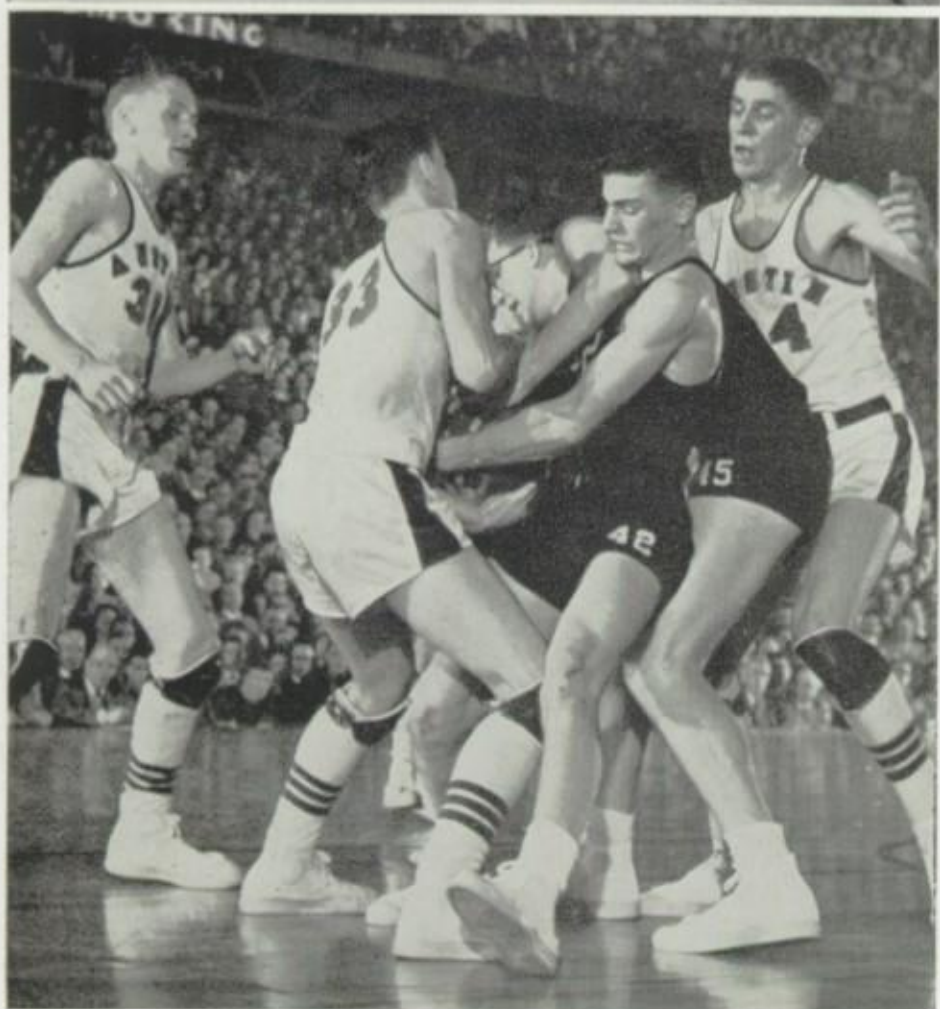

By scoring an easy 70-50 victory over Crosby-Ironton, a team they had defeated by eight points earlier in the season, Ove Berven's Austin squad advanced in the state tourney. The Packers were never threatened after the opening of play as they completely out-played their northern Minnesota foes.

The hot-shooting Austin five held a 31-20 margin at the halfway mark. The Packers boasted a balanced scoring attack as four of the ten players scored in double figures. Don Rasmussen was high with 18, but he was closely followed by Norm Sollie with 15 and Dayle Rasmussen with 14.

Packers Take 4th in State

Austin faltered before Hopkins, the eventual state champion, 45-34 in the semi-finals of the state classic. Paced by the deadly shooting of the Rasmussen twins, the Packers managed to hold a narrow 14-13 lead at the end of the first period. In the second quarter the lead changed several times before Hopkins finally forged ahead for good, 23-22. They added six tallies to their total and led at halftime 30-24. Inability to rebound with the more agile Hopkins five was the key factor in the Packer's loss. Scoring leaders for Austin were Don and Dayle Rasmussen with five buckets apiece.

Playing for the third place championship, Austin dropped a 60-58 double overtime game to tiny Halstad. The Packers trailed throughout the game until they knotted the score in the final three minutes of play. Dayle Rasmussen put on the top shooting exhibition of the tourney by dropping 28 points.

B Cagers See Action

Veteran Coach Blair Hainer again came up with another strong aggregation. The hard fighting sophomore quint finished the season by racking up a respectable record of nine wins, four losses, and one tie.

After downing Hayfield 31-27 in their season opener, the Bees next lost to a scrappy Mason City squad. Getting back on the victory trail, the Packers bumped Adams, Rochester, and Albert Lea and then fell to a determined bunch of St. Louis Park cagers by a one-point decision. The Bees dumped the Winhawks and tied Mankato before Owatonna stopped them 32-31. Faribault was the next victim of the Austin attack, falling 37-25. Journeying to Albert Lea, the Junior Packers suffered their fourth setback of the year.

Coming back in fine style, the sophs hit their stride by downing Rochester 30-23, Northfield 34-18, and Red Wing 34-25.

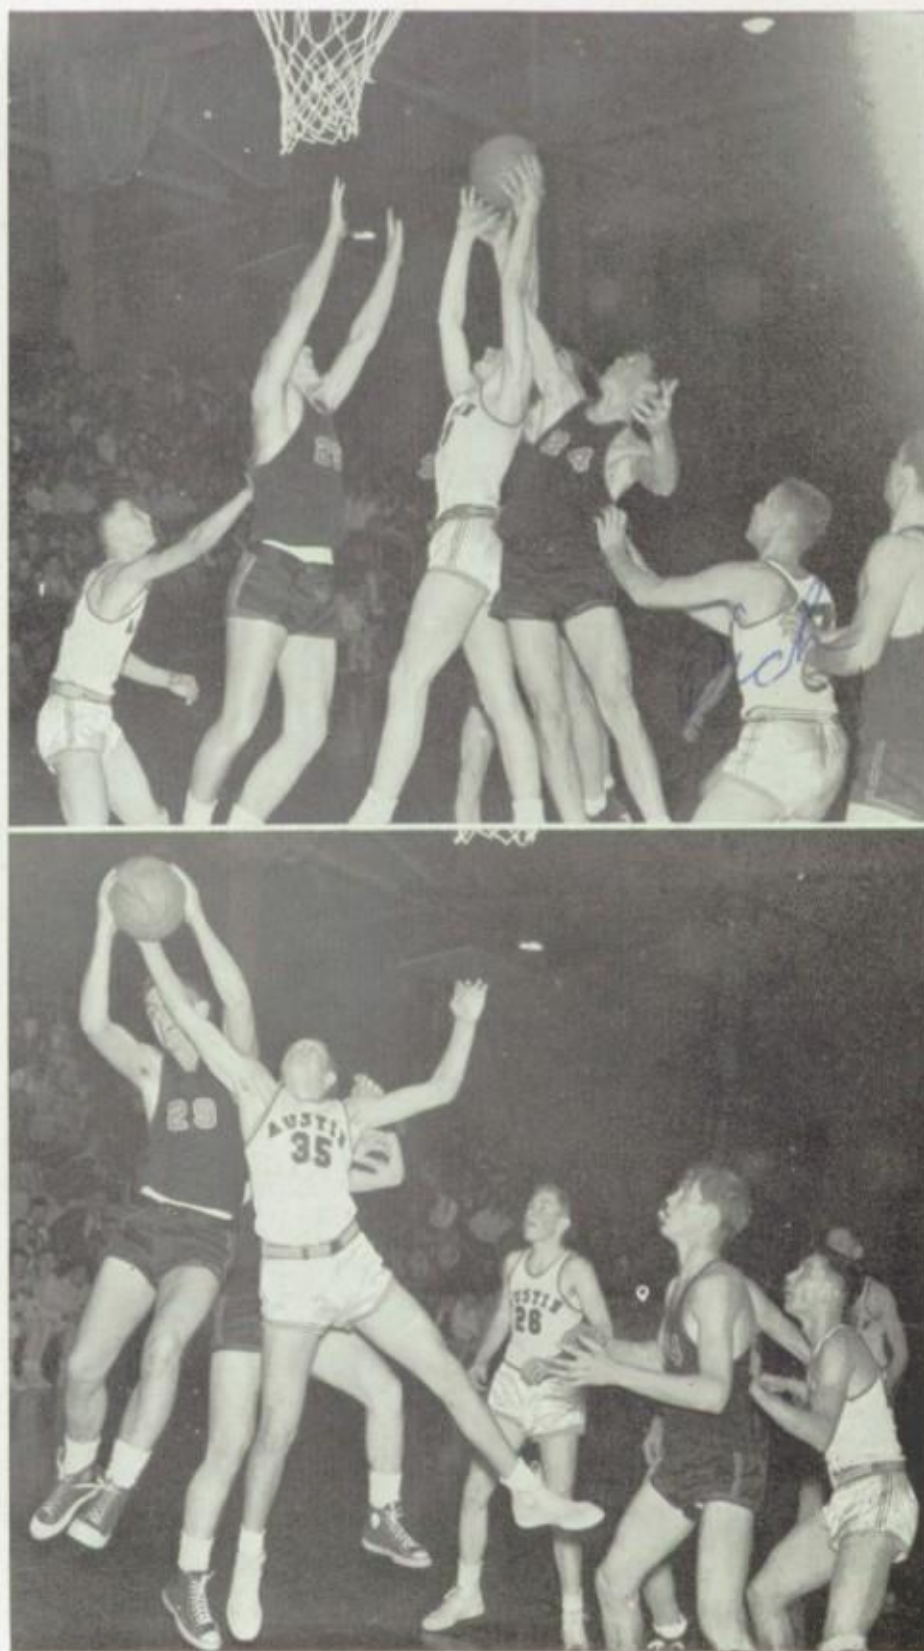

Standouts during the season were Frank Luksik, Jerry Hatch, Terry Meyer, Dave Ploof, John Lightly, and Gordy Anderson.

Tankers Share Big Nine

By compiling a season's record of six wins and two defeats, Coach Vern Ojanpa's veteran swimming team tied for first with Rochester in the conference standings.

The Packer tankers opened the 1951-52 season with a 41-26 decision over Minneapolis Roosevelt. The Austin boys completely outfought the Teddies by taking six first places out of a possible nine. Evar Silvernagle's strong Rochester squad stopped the Packers in their next outing in a close meet which found the Rockets capturing the deciding event, the 200-yard freestyle. With Bob Houston and Dave Nelson paving the way, the Austin mermen defeated Winona for their first Big Nine victory.

Austin's second conference win, a well-earned triumph over Rochester, was followed by two victories over Shattuck of Faribault. Russ Wangen led the Packers as they racked up their sixth win, stopping an up-and-down Winona team 55-24.

Swimmers Have Big Year

One of the swimming upsets of the year found the Austin tankers finishing third behind Rochester and Winona in the Big Nine Conference meet. The six Packer swimmers who qualified for the state meet brought home a well-earned fifth place.

Russell Wangen, Austin's ace breast-stroker, won a coveted state title this year. Wangen, considered one of the best breast-strokers ever to swim the Austin pool, took a first in the individual 150 yard breast-stroke.

From the 1951-52 squad, the Packers will lose Bob Houston, Allen Johannsen, and Wangen through graduation. Returning lettermen include Bob Albright, Dave Nelson, LaRue Johnson, Pat Maloney, Forrest Gardner, and Dick Thatcher.

Wrestlers Perform

Coaches Sky Wilcox and Ray Lemmerman produced two top-flight wrestling squads this year with the A squad dropping only one out of ten matches, and the B squad going undefeated in nine starts.

The Packers opened their schedule by drubbing Northfield 41-5 and continued their winning ways by gaining easy victories over Rochester, Albert Lea, Winona, and Mankato. Ola Barnett and Ray Goodew were the early season stars in the two meets against Rochester as both registered quick pins in less than a minute's time.

The most difficult test of the season came when the Packers edged Owatonna 23-19. The outcome wasn't decided until the final match when Packer heavyweight Gary Hanson scored a decisive victory.

In the match for the Big Nine championship, Austin dropped a narrow 18-15 decision to the Faribault Falcons. The Packers readied themselves for tourney play by stopping Mound and Anoka in the final dual meets of the year.

Batter Up

Dick Seltz, in his first year at the helm of the Austin baseball squad, fielded a powerful aggregation which walked away with Big Nine, district, regional, and state fourth place honors. The Packers, who dropped one of ten games during the regular season, had an overall record of 15-3. The single season defeat came at the hands of a fine Rochester squad which blanked the Packers 4-0.

The locals breezed through the District II tournament with one-sided wins over Grand Meadow, Adams, and Lyle. Grand Meadow fell before the hard-hitting Packers 22-0 as Weiss and Rog Kral pitched one-hit ball. High scoring continued in the remainder of the tourney games with Adams falling 14-1 and Lyle succumbing to the mighty Packers 17-7.

Advancing to the Region 1 tourney, the Packers nipped Owatonna 7-2 in the opener with Arnold's tremendous homerun featuring the play. Weiss shut out Rochester on two hits in the finals as Austin scored a 5-0 victory.

Hit the Ball

Arnold and Weiss starred again in the opening round of the state event when the Seltzmen eked out a 2-1 win over Shakopee. Arnold brought home the winning run with a booming double, while Weiss held the Shakopee club to three hits. Melrose knocked the Packers out of the tourney in the semi-finals with a 1-0 win. With third place honors at stake, the Packers lost to Mankato 1-0.

Prospects for this season are bright with such veterans as Arnold and the twins returning. Other returning regulars include Dick Anderson, Ron Plath, Darrell Schumacher, and Bryce Wheeler.

Thinclads Work Hard

Clashing against tough Big Nine Competition at the Faribault relays, the Austinites under Coach Charles Willard finished fourth. The Packers' points were scored by their fine performance in the relays.

Austin's thinclads grabbed second in the Mankato relays. Captain Bill Rishavy, Gene Lohman, and Brian Fischer led the attack.

While the Packers failed to win the Carleton Invitational Tournament, they racked up more points than the total accumulated by any other Austin team in four previous Carleton meets.

With Knowles Dougherty copping a first place in the mile event, the Austin preps gained fourth place in the Big Nine meet.

In the district meet, the Austin cindermen edged Albert Lea 58-57.

Austin gained second place in the regional meet. Distance runner Knowles Dougherty, hurdler Bill Rishavy, Gene Lohman, and the 880-yard relay team—composed of Rishavy, Nate Hovland, Dave Dale, and Brian Fischer—earned the right to carry Austin's colors in the state meet at the University of Minnesota.

Prospects for this year's team include Dave Dale, Knowles Dougherty, Brian Fischer, Dave Folkestad, Jim Grothe, Nathan Hovland, Jim Jeffers, Gene Lohman, and Dick Wilder.

Golfers Blast Away

Improving the '51 golf team, which placed second in Big Nine standings, will be no minor job for Coach Walt Lembcke.

Competition will prove stiff this year, although returning lettermen Capt. Bob Nelson, Jack Buck, Ted Colescott, and Loel Jan comprise a formidable squad.

Girls Like Sports, Too

The senior GAA has once again finished another season of girls' athletics under the able direction of Miss Dorothy Hoos. Austin High's popular girl "athletes" gain much needed exercise and fun while partaking in a varied slate of activities including bowling, basketball, and swimming. After playing volleyball and softball in the fall, the girls play in the gyms and paddle in the pool during the winter months. Because of its opportunities for fun and social life, GAA has become a popular girls' activity.

We're Still Growing

Realizing that Austin is growing by leaps and bounds, the school board and other school officials have been laboring at their never-ending task of developing additional school space and buildings. Last winter, bonds totaling $2,945,000 were floated for the construction of school buildings in the more heavily populated areas of Austin. Two rambler type grade buildings—one in Sterling Addition, the other on South River Street—along with a similarly constructed vocational building seem to be most needed.

As a result of Austin's being named the site of a new area vocational center, young people who reside in and around Austin will have added opportunity to gain specialized training in such skilled trades as carpentry, air conditioning, printing, beauty culture, and selling.

Music and Art Are Fun

As for the arts, Austin is well known for its ability to present fine productions in the fields of music and drama. Annually the music, drama, and art departments combine their talents and efforts to produce another beautiful and stirring Christmas program. The orchestras and bands appear in individual concerts at intervals throughout the year.

This year, Mankato played host to the Big Nine Winter Music Festival, one of the musical highlights of the year. Eighteen instrumentalists and 20 chorus members represented Austin at this February festival.

In May, Austin contributed 225 musicians to the spring festival at Winona. The day's events were culminated with a late afternoon parade by all bands in the Big Nine.

Another Big Nine event, the speech festival, was held in Austin early in March.

Films Brighten Classes

Austin's audio-visual aids program, inaugurated a year ago, is fast becoming a necessity of modern education. In the classroom during a single hour students may hear a recording of an important speech as well as see a film concerning their particular course of study.

Mr. Gordon Fogdall, director of the program, and his student assistants maintain regular office hours in the high school as well as deliver and operate equipment in the outlying grade buildings. Teachers rate the films and they are then either reordered or discarded for the coming year according to these recommendations.

We Build Strong Bodies

Building strong bodies and emphasizing body coordination are the general aims of our physical education program. Gym classes play touch football, softball, and soccer at the athletic field during warm weather. When the cold weather comes, the gym classes return to the school for such activities as volleyball, swimming, and basketball.

Community swimming, dancing, ice skating, and other programs are carried on under the sponsorship of the city recreation department.

English, History Stressed

A new state curriculum in English is expected to be ready for Austin students by next fall. Miss Lorna Bates, 11th grade English instructor, is a member of the state committee which is setting up the course units. More theme composition together with the "ever popular" grammar will predominate in all high school English classes.

This year, seniors took advantage of their chance to see Orson Welles' production of Macbeth, while many lower classes took trips to the public library and made extensive use of the tape recorder.

The social studies department was also very active this year.

Early on the morning of October 5, a group of forty-nine 8th grade students together with their teachers, Miss Beulah Buswell and Mr. Leighton Rickert, set forth on a two day bus excursion of the Mississippi Valley.

After a full day of sight-seeing at the Rochester airport, the Watkins Plant in Science Proves Practical

Are too many Austin High graduates lacking a thorough background in mathematics? For the past few years, the administration and the math instructors have been contemplating the possibility of beginning a new semester course in mathematics. For seniors only, this course will attempt to bridge the gap between eighth grade math and graduation. Such everyday practices as figuring discounts, statements, insurance, interest, and budgets will be emphasized.

Our science department is also adding something rather new this year. Through the cooperation of Hormels, all ninth grade science students will make a tour of the plant early each fall. Advanced science classes will also tour the Hormel foundation.

Sow little time

(The shoat but beautiful life of Percival, the Polite Pig)

His father was a farrow dealer in a gambling house. His mother was a ham actress. So, it was all the more surprising about Percival. From litter-ally the very beginning, he was known as Percy, The Polite Pig.

His table manners alone were enough to give his fellow pigs a gilt complex. Not for him the casual burp, the careless slurp . . . He never made a hog of himself.

Always alert, never a boar, Percival was a popular guest at any social gathering. Following closely the precepts of Hamily Post, Percival never took his welcome for grunted.

At Hamherst College, his impeccable deporkment made him a Pig Man on Campus. Though a few of his envious classmates considered him a fly in the oinkment, an ache in the bacon, he was voted Most Likely to Succeed.

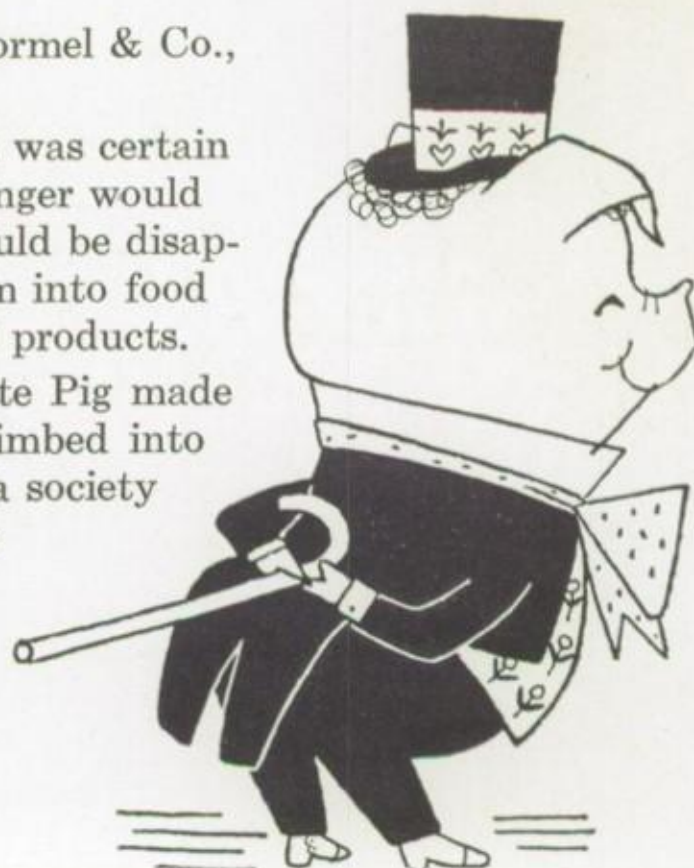

Even as he was graduated—while the voices joined in Auld Lang Swine—Percival was planning his next step. As he went around the campus, saying goodbye (Never the casual “Sow long” . . . but rather, the continental “Auf wienersehen”) . . . he fingered a business card in the pocket of his coat.

That card read . . . “Geo. A. Hormel & Co., Austin, Minn.”

From lip to liverwurst, Percival was certain of his next step. To delay it any longer would be living on barrowed time. He would be disappointing the housewives who stream into food markets, seeking those fine Hormel products.

So in the end, Percival the Polite Pig made his last and greatest gesture. He climbed into a can labeled SPAM . . . attended a society bridge luncheon between two slices of bread . . . and then, always the gentleman . . .

He gave his seat to a lady.
